FASHION TEXTILES with Fashion Designer LOLA TURNER from FIORUCCI

6-week course designed to support young people with a focus in learning textiles to customise clothing and accessories. Each class will focus on a different customisation technique such as, patchwork, embroidery, overprinting & embellishment. Throughout the course students will produce design samples exploring each of these techniques and will leave with a final fashion outcome that combines their favourite customisation techniques that they have learnt through the duration of the course. Each week the students will develop an understanding of different textile techniques using hand stitching, machine sewing and different printing methods to create designs. The course will give the students the freedom to explore their own design concepts and will support them in refining their design ideas through drawing, colour building and collage.
